Introducing the Journal

It is with great pleasure that we present the latest issue of Volume 10 Number 2 (December 2024) of the Journal of People's History and Culture. This publication marks another milestone in our academic journey, and we are excited to share a collection of insightful papers that delve into various subjects within the expansive realm of social sciences. We have aimed to break traditional boundaries and foster dynamic transactions among disciplines in the spirit of the ever-evolving landscape of interdisciplinary scholarship. Through this journal, we aspire to create a space for critical dialogue, exchange, and synergy that opens up new perspectives in the vast domain of Humanities and social sciences. We leave it to our readers to assess the extent of our success in this endeavour.

A heartfelt thank you goes to our dedicated editorial team whose unwavering efforts, despite numerous challenges and constraints, have made the timely publication of this journal possible. We are also indebted to all the contributors whose enthusiastic responses have brought this issue to fruition.

Consider this issue as a black-and-white sketch of the road; a journey through a colourful gallery awaits our readers. Our earnest endeavour has been to produce a journal that satisfies and stimulates discerning readers' minds.

We firmly believe that this volume will be a valuable resource for our readers. With our best wishes, love, and regards to all.
